

Free workshop for educators and youth program leaders

Gain the confidence to bring an hour of code to your own classrooms

If you are an educator or a youth program leader, we would like to invite you to come and engage in a hands-on coding tutorial, become familiar with key computer science concepts, and get ready to lead an hour of code using an exciting new web tutorial! Snacks will be provided!

During this 3 – hour workshop series, participants will:

- Enjoy a fun and successful personal coding experience
- Learn some coding concept fundamentals
- Explore core concepts of computer science and computational thinking
- Experience an exciting new web tutorial, and prepare to use it to lead an Hour of Code

See you on November 29th at 1:00PM at Microsoft Store at Dadeland Mall
